

MYTH

Humanities majors struggle to find jobs.

EMPLOYEE ID# 4543-515447

When it comes to getting a job, humanities majors experience rates of unemployment similar to those of business majors, physics majors, or criminal justice majors.

But the truth is you shouldn't worry about getting a job with any of these majors. The fact is that the differences in unemployment rate are negligible.

REALITY